Nine Die In Sicily When Big British Seaplane Crashes

Flying Boat on Way to Malta and Singapore Wrecked and Burned in Hills; Eight R.A.F. Officers Killed

One Passenger Among Victims

Canadian Press
 Messina, Italy, Feb. 15.—Eight officers of the Royal Air Force and one passenger were killed to-day when an R.A.F. flying boat crashed in the hills near here.

The machine was one of four new Short-Singapore four-engined planes en route from Britain to the big British base at Singapore.

The machine, in thick fog, crashed on a hillside and immediately burst into flames.

The occupants were incinerated. PASSENGER NOT IDENTIFIED.

Admiralty advice was that the plane was in charge of Flight Lieutenant Henry Longfield Beatty and flying Officer John Alexander Charles Purvis. In addition there were a crew of six and a passenger whose name was not immediately obtainable.

The plane had taken off from Naples for the air force base at Malta, its next stop on the long journey to Singapore.

The squadron had reached Naples two weeks ago and was delayed there because of engine trouble in two of the planes. After replacement parts had been obtained from London, the squadron started for Malta. In passing near the village of San Filippo one of them crashed.

"CADDY" SEEN THIS MORNING

W. Chandler and A. Prezeau Watched Sea Serpent Off Waterfront

Cadaverous is again in Victoria waters. The serpent was watched this morning for ten minutes by W. Chandler, 1315 Currie street, and A. Prezeau, 1308 Hillside, who were trimming arc lights at the corner of Dallas Road and Menzies Street.

At about 9:30 o'clock Mr. Prezeau glanced up from his work and saw "Caddy" travelling with about two feet of his head and neck out of water, near the breakwater.

Mr. Chandler described the sea serpent as having a head like a camel, and being a dirty greenish brown in color. Mr. Prezeau estimated his length to be about twenty-five feet. He could not see all of him, however, and was uncertain about this.

"Caddy" was first seen about 100 yards from shore, travelling fast. Undulations were clear as he traveled, the men said, and occasionally he swam under water for about twenty-five feet at a stretch. Both men ran along the path at the top of the beach while they watched "Caddy."

Mr. Chandler and Mr. Prezeau are well known believers in "Caddy." They admitted they had "pooh-poohed" the idea at first, but this morning's experience has changed their minds about the serpent's existence.

FUEL INQUIRY BACK IN APRIL

Investigation of Companies' Finances to Be Pushed at Next Session Here

The British Columbia fuel inquiry, which has completed its first session in Victoria and on Monday will open for two weeks in Vancouver, will return to Victoria in April or later in the spring, when the oil and gasoline companies will be investigated and a start made in inquiring into the capital structure and general finances of the coal and oil companies, it was announced to-day.

Next week's work of the commission in Vancouver will chiefly follow along the lines of the inquiry here during the last two weeks, with the questioning of individual coal dealers by C. H. O'Halloran, commission counsel. This work, it was explained, is aimed at merely laying the ground work for the bigger phase of the inquiry which is to come later.

The commission under Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald will not sit during March. That month will be spent in preparation behind the scenes for the vital work in April.

TOO MUCH SCREENING

H. O. Plummer, manager for the Canadian Oilfields, was the first witness before the final arguments Thursday morning. He testified he was prepared to guarantee a saving of 60 per cent through the use of an automatic coal stoker. He declared that 50 per cent of his fuel was needed for screening and there were faulty furnaces everywhere.

As for coal screening, he asserted there was too much of it done and it was adding unnecessarily to dealers' costs. He said for his own use he preferred coal in proportions of thirty of lump to ten of silt, and this reduced the price $1 a ton.

"The trouble with people is they say too much—when they want their coal in all but cellophane," Mr. Plummer added.

NEURITIS HANDICAPS THE MOST ENERGETIC RID YOURSELF OF THIS COMPLAINT

WOULD LIKE TO TELL
THOUSANDS ABOUT HARRIS
WONDER

Dear Sir—About two years ago I was afflicted with an attack of Neuritis in my right arm and shoulder. The pain was so severe I was unable to perform my household duties for over two months. My sleep was broken every night and life was made very miserable. Consequently I could take no interest in anything. I tried many remedies but received no benefit.

Last August I decided to take Harris' Wonder, which had been recommended to me. I commenced to get relief after taking only one bottle. I have been taking it steadily since and am thankful to say that I am now almost free from pain and have enjoyed undisturbed sleep for some time. Your medicine has not only relieved me of the terrible pain which has been my constant companion, but it has also greatly improved my health. I know from the way I feel these glowing testimonials that I am not going to notice the cold this winter as I have in the past. It was impossible to praise Harris' Wonder too highly and I just feel as though I would like to tell thousands of people who would benefit from it. My husband has also commenced taking Harris' Wonder as he is underweight and I feel quite sure it will have the desired results.

I shall be only too pleased to recommend Harris' Wonder and should you at any time wish to use this letter as a testimonial you are at liberty to do so.

Yours truly
MRS. E. HOWARD.

NOTES OF THE LEGISLATURE

Mr. McEwen, who spoke the day previously to a nervous young man before a ladies' aid meeting, said he did not regard politics as a game and therefore did not "play politics."

The premier, said Mr. Connell, reminded him of Mr. McEwen "waiting for something to turn up."

In one part of his address the opposition leader was called to order by Premier Pattison, but, maintaining the same procedure of using proper names of members, rather than the term "honorable member."

Clive Plante declared B.C. is "the watchdog of the Empire on the Pacific."

He said a lot about the proposed Washington-Alaska Highway, declaring if the U.S. wanted the road to go through B.C. it must respect the boundaries of the Alaska Panhandle to give northern B.C. a coast outlet.

Mr. Plante characterized the financial reform plans of Mayor McOwen of Vancouver as "clockwork communism under money magic and sugar coating it with religious fervor."

"This is the only area I know of in the world where you are placed in the position of being legally permitted to drink beer, but not to eat," the Peace River member said.

He wanted cultured, living music in eating and drinking places as a means of giving work to unemployed musicians.

Thomas Uphill, Fernie member, tried to take the floor at the start of the session to ask what the government would do for Fernie. He was ruled out of order, but, maintaining in any it all later when he joined the debate.

Mr. Uphill offered the speech from the Throne "a large piece of paper with very little in it."

"I was brought up too modest, that's why I'm so ignorant" was another Uphill ally.

"All cities are financially embarrassed," Mr. Uphill said. "It just like me borrowing $5 from Jack Price and when the time comes to pay it back I have to borrow $5 from Assiniboine to do so."

Germany To Discuss New Pact Proposals

"The German Government will thoroughly examine the whole documents concerning the European question contained in them. This examination will be conducted in the spirit of a sincere desire for peace as well as a concern for the security of the German Reich in its geographical position especially exposed situation in the heart of Europe."

AIR DEFENCES

The German Government will especially examine the question raised of what means the danger of air armaments can be avoided in the future, which danger has arisen from the abandonment of the heavily armed states of disarmament as prescribed by treaties.

"The German Government is convinced that only the spirit of free agreement between sovereign states as expressed in the Franco-British communiqué can lead to durable international regulations in the realm of armaments."

"The German Government welcomes the proposal to increase defence against sudden attacks from the air by a convention to be made as soon as possible which shall provide for the immediate employment of the air forces to the signature in favor of the victim of an unprovoked air attack."

TO KEEP PEACE

"The German Government is ready in principle to employ its air forces as a means of deterring disturbances of the peace."

"It is therefore willing to seek, in free accord with the powers concerned, ways and means by which such a convention can be reached, which shall guarantee the fullest possible security to all signatories."

"The German Government is of the opinion that negotiations on a large scale, which have not been sufficiently prepared, had naturally and from experience to distrust which in the interest of working out a completely neutral air convention should be avoided."

Pepper Market Inquiry Urged

Disastrous London Speculations Raise Questions In Commons

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 15.—The National Government, safely past the labor vote of non-confidence, faced a new problem to-day in the disastrous pepper market speculations.

The house rejected the motion of censure for the government's handling of the case, but a thumping majority—274 to 69. The pepper gamble, however, was brought up in the course of the debate and called on by those who have been clamoring for an investigation of the identity of the prime movers in the illicit speculation, which brought three firms into receivership.

Major Harry Louis Nathan, Liberal member for Bethnal Green, called attention of the Commons to "ugly rumors" and "grave suspicions."

"Do not let the government lead the House to believe," he said, "that it was fear of a general election which affected the city stock exchange."

It was rumors and suspicions of what was taking place that had led up to and who is involved in these speculations. The reason for the government's action is that the speculators sold securities in the market from Paris last Tuesday afternoon—these speculations would involve this country in a scandal which would equal the Starkey scandal in France.

SERIES OF QUESTIONS

The government has yet to answer a series of questions placed on the order paper dealing with the activities in the pepper and shellac markets. They are to come up for discussion Monday and Tuesday.

The most pointed of these questions was fathered by the Laborite David Grenfell, who will ask Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, whether he intends to take any action regarding "loss of confidence" in the city as a result of commodity speculation.

Grenfell also has posted a question asking investigation and particulars regarding the persons owning shares and the names of the firms which would have profited if the pepper gamble had succeeded.

POWER LACKING

Mr. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, said yesterday evening that he had no power to take action against persons or companies financing the transaction.

Financial editors particularly have been campaigning for exposing the names of the firms which cleared the city atmosphere and restore public confidence.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer spoke for the government yesterday evening, concluding the debate on the motion of censure by Mr. Hon. George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition. The motion was defeated, 247 to 69.

In speeches last month in Wales, Mr. Lloyd George laid down his proposals for national recovery. The confirmed reports have been current since that he might be invited into the cabinet of the National Government.

Mr. Chamberlain's remarks yesterday evening wound up a stormy debate during which Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was severely heckled and in which opposition speakers debated the government's unemployment policy. The Labor venture motion aimed the confidence of the country for its "bungling" on the relief question.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer absorbed the government's unemployment policy had been eminently successful.

He said he believed the recent rise in unemployment would be absorbed in a few months. (Figures for January showed a jump of 140,000 in the number of persons unemployed compared with the previous month.)

MEASURES ADOPTED

No other policy presented in Britain or any other country, Mr. Chamberlain maintained, had produced a comparable result. The government was adopting various measures with a view to restoring its export trade, the success of which gradually was becoming apparent. It had no intention of abandoning the policy of cheap money and adherence to sound finance on which the continued success of its policy of reducing unemployment depended, he said.

Major Harry Louis Nathan, Labor member for Bethnal Green, previously had charged the government with having lost the battle of the cheap money policy had done nothing but "start money careening around in banks and on the stock exchange in speculation."

SENATE HEARS WAR DEBATED

Hon. J. J. Hughes Urges Sweeping Changes In Rules In Canada If Conflict Comes

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 15.—After launching discussion of a war resolution, initiating and opening debate on five resolutions originated in the International Labor Office in Geneva, the Senate to-day adjourned until next Tuesday evening.

Women and children, the aged and sick would be chief victims if war came again, stated Senator J. J. Hughes, Liberal, Prince Edward Island, in asking yesterday for approval of his war resolution. War had become revolution and the world would be torn to shreds by professional soldiers. He condemned war as "a monstrous evil."

In the event of Canada ever again going to war, Senator Hughes proposed a sweeping change in the constitution of the provinces and Dominion would be represented. The war council with a war control of war activities, would have authority to assign men and women in Canada to whatever positions it considered necessary in order to fill making as few changes as possible in their daily occupations.

QUESTIONS OF PAY

"From the Governor-General down," army officers included, no wage, salary or income of any individual would be greater than that of the common soldier in the field. In addition to a reasonable amount for dependent. Another provision, he argued, would stop all war profiteers and have war expenses met by taxation and capital levies.

In the last war some business enterprises had made huge fortunes while the trenches in the front lines were filled with suffering and death. Discussion was adjourned by Senator James Macpherson, who said he would like to see the trenches in the front lines filled with suffering and death.

The Patents Act bill will be subject of representations from interested parties before the banking and commerce committee of the upper house beginning February 22.

Cheap Money Plan Continues

London, Feb. 15.—The defence by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, of the government's policy of cheap money and adherence to "sound finance" was regarded by the opposition as a clear indication of Mr. Chamberlain's disbelief in the national recovery scheme set forth by Mr. Hon. David Lloyd George, war-time Prime Minister.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer spoke for the government yesterday evening, concluding the debate on the motion of censure by Mr. Hon. George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition. The motion was defeated, 247 to 69.

FUEL INQUIRY BACK IN APRIL

In reply to Bruce Robertson, counsel for the Canadian Collieries, Mr. Plummer gave the following totals of yearly tonnage shipped to Victoria by the collieries: 1928, 44,000 tons; 1927, 46,000; 1926, 50,000; 1925, 45,000; 1924, 41,000; 1923, 34,000; 1922, 41,000; 1921, 34,000; 1920, 31,000; 1919, 30,000; 1918, 31,000.

STOKER COAL PRICE TO RISE

Questioned by Mr. O'Riordan, Mr. Plummer said he did not know whether or not it had proved to be a wise policy for the company to have opened up the selling of coal to all here instead of through six agents only.

Oil was the real competitor of coal, Mr. Plummer testified. He expressed fear that coal might not be able to hold its own in the market.

Mr. Plummer said the coal from Vancouver lower cost advantage was proving to be a stiff competitor to both oil and coal, he said.

Walter Walker of the Standard and Sons returned to the stand Thursday afternoon to express disagreement with the system of the commission's auditors, who had reported that the Standard and Sons had been making a profit for himself and brother in connection with the operation of the office.

The auditor apparently thought we could get along without our salaries," Mr. Walker said.

Mr. Walker told the commission that if a similar case were brought before the court, there would have to be a revision of the price upward, or all dealers would go bankrupt.

POST READY FOR HEIGHT FLIGHT

Associated Press

CARGO SHIFTED DURING GALES

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—Impeded by a lumber cargo which shifted as a result of the southerly gale the ship encountered on leaving the coast of Japan, the British steamer Langhebroek, bound from British Columbia ports for London, put in here to-day to secure repairs.

The voyage down the coast took ninety-three hours. The Langhebroek probably will be held two or three days.

Jobless Insurance Bill Gets Sharp Debate In Commons

for this session, which has been marked for its unanimity of thought and freedom from open warfare.

SAYS COAT CHANGED

Hon. J. L. Ralston, who is known as the chief Liberal financial critic, accused Premier R. B. Bennett of "changing his coat," of "launching his reform legislation as an election bait and of suffering from 'electionitis' with polling day drawing near."

The bill was being forward on the eve of an election by the party which had consistently opposed all previous efforts in the same direction, said Col. Ralston. On the other hand the Liberal Party had consistently favored and worked towards a comprehensive, workable national scheme of unemployment insurance.

A year ago, Mr. Ralston went on, Mr. Bennett said he could offer "nothing spectacular, nothing but thrift and hard work." Yet now he described his pre-election programme as a most spectacular series of reforms.

"Bennett said he turned Socialist," he said. "Others said he had turned Radical, that he had turned reformer. Most of us know that nothing happened to him. He merely had electionitis."

Mr. Ralston joined other Liberals in doubting constitutionality of the insurance bill, and accused the government of making false hopes in minds of harassed people which would be dashed to pieces when the courts threw out the legislation, making it a dead letter on the statute books.

MANION SPEAKS

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, came to the defense of his leader. He accused the Liberals, while a general hubbub broke out in the House, of playing party politics at the expense of the good of the people, and suggested they co-operate with the administration in putting into effect legislation that will be useful in this country.

At the time of election, said Mr. Manion, the people would have to decide between "the man who always talked about his principles and does not practice them and the man who is the present leader of the government who may at times perhaps be inconsistent in some of his statements but who has the courage and manliness to bring into effect corrections of the economic system under which we are living in order to save that system in which we live."

"The greatest theoretical reformer we have ever had in this country has been the Leader of the Opposition," said Mr. Manion. "If this man Hauptmann, who was convicted yesterday, had been as good as preparing alibis as the Leader of the Opposition he would have been acquitted."

Manion went on to say that the Liberal leader had "electionitis" when he denounced Ottawa charwomen on the eve of an election or promised to reform the Senate and then promptly forgot about it when in office.

Dr. Manion accused the Liberals of talking against the insurance bill but voting for it, and predicted they would do everything they could to make it unworkable.

He charged Liberals with overlooking the Canadian National Railways when they were in power, and of giving clear check on the government on the eve of an election.

If 1 per cent of the accumulated wages in 1931 had been put in an insurance scheme a fund of $55,000,000 would have been built up in a single year, said Dr. Manion.

The minister said that although the Liberals accused the Prime Minister of inconsistency in changing his mind, he would predict not one of them would have the courage to vote against the insurance bill.

INQUIRY REPORT TO COME IN SECTIONS

First Part of Federal Business Commission's Findings Being Drafted Said to Deal With Labor

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 15.—Compilation of a report which is expected to be voluminous, both in discussion of evidence and recommendations, to-day occupied members of the Royal Commission on mass buying. Some time must elapse before the report is ready.

"We are only at the first section," declared Chairman W. W. Kennedy, when he was asked whether the report will receive the report through Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in its completed form, or by sections, in the manner of a series of articles in a newspaper.

It is not unlikely that to facilitate the government's programme for the amelioration of certain social ills the latter practice will be adopted. The first section is understood to deal with labor.

In this connection evidence adduced before both the parliamentary committee and the Royal Commission was overwhelming in its disclosure of distressing conditions prevailing in certain trades, particularly those in which women workers predominate.

CLOSE SUPERVISION

It is anticipated the commission will urge closer check on the industries employing women to insure proper observance of the minimum wage laws and recommend uniformity in these enactments. Also, the commission contemplates recommending establishment of minimum wage laws for male workers, coupling this with maximum working hours.

MASS BUYING

On mass buying the commission is confronted with a difficult situation. It is understood some of the commissioners are not entirely convinced mass buying itself is an evil.

The report, it is understood, will be critical of labor policies of many of the main stores, declaring that these have been characterized by close control in the matter of wage costs, but by lack of sympathetic direction in the application of these wage policies to the condition of the workers involved. The excuse that such direction could safely be entrusted to the local management had been shown to be inadequate by conditions revealed to the commission.

The chain store management ought to have recognized from the start that abuses in such a system were inevitable, the report is understood to declare. The fact that so many steps were taken to change these circumstances is considered a dereliction of duty on the part of executives.

BIG RECRUITING FIELD

The commission is believed to have found the position of the chain store employee a particularly deplorable one. At the same time the use of unskilled staff and recruitment for labor among the youth of the coun-not "possibly name persons connected with the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby."

"As God is my judge," was the reply, "I cannot come, for there is nothing to confess."

"I told everything on my word of honor. That is, I mean I have not tried to cover up anybody."

"But the New York Daily News said in a copyright article to-day that not only were two men involved in the kidnapping, but that Hauptmann was identified as the actual recipient—but that police knew the identity of the second and sought to trap him."

FACE CONCEALED

The man, The News said, was the man who hid his face with a handkerchief and peered into Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's automobile while the father of the slain baby awaited his ransom money, Dr. F. Condon, The mystery man turned on and dropped his handkerchief, apparently as a signal to the ransom collector to bring the money.

The News said the second man's part in the crime "was not mentioned at the Hauptmann trial be-

WILL GO BRAVELY

Hauptmann, protesting his innocence, told newspapermen:

"If I have to go to the electric chair, I go like a man."

To-day was his last in the county jail. From there he will be taken to the state prison at Trenton, where a cell in the death house has been prepared for him.

APPEAL TO COST $15,000

Edward J. Reilly, chief of defence counsel, estimated the cost of carrying the fight through higher courts at $15,000.

Hauptmann, pale and restless, paced his brightly lighted cell while he talked. The trial had left him worn out, he said, but he felt "all right."

NO EVIDENCE

Washington, Feb. 15.—Statements that federal officers have evidence that Bruno Richard Hauptmann had a accomplice in the Lindbergh kidnapping were termed false today by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation of the United States Department of Justice.

The Lindbergh kidnap—murder case was said to be closed as far as the special agents of the Department of Justice are concerned. It was asserted that Hauptmann, now facing death in the electric chair, is guilty and no other suspects are involved.

"It would be reprehensible even bordering on criminal, to conceal any evidence that would shed light on the guilt or innocence of Bruno Hauptmann and the division of investigation has no other evidence in this case," Hoover said.

He made this statement in commenting on published reports that authorities, including the Department of Justice, knew of an accomplice and expected to arrest him for the division of investigation.

ALONE, THEY SAY

New York, Feb. 15.—Bronx County District Attorney Samuel J. Foley asserted to-day that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, according to all the evidence, committed the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder alone.

"There had never been any evidence," he said, "definite or otherwise, to indicate anybody was implicated other than Hauptmann."

"The case is closed as far as this office is concerned."

Foley denied truth of reports that an accomplice was known and that authorities were awaiting a favorable opportunity to trap him.

Chief of Counsel Edward J. Reilly said: "Eventually, the police may find some truth to my theory that the crime was committed by at least four persons, none of them Hauptmann, but I can't recall of the police ever acting on the accomplice angle."

GREAT WORKS PLANS URGED

President of Vancouver Board of Trade Suggests Schemes to Absorb Jobless

Vancouver, Feb. 15.—Need of a great public works program to absorb unemployed and the necessity of governments having business to the business leaders to work out an economic recovery were emphasized by T. A. Dixon, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, in an address to members of a service club yesterday.

It was time the federal government recognized unemployment had reached a national emergency and it should be handled in a broad and national way by the practical expenditure of federal money, he declared.

"Millions are being spent throughout Canada, hardly any proportion of which will show any return on the investment," he said.

Reviewing trade and industrial figures of recent years, he declared figures of the last two years indicated the country had been turned upside down.

"In spite of many restrictions placed on business by the government, the country is turning outwards eventual recovery," he said. "Business, if left reasonably alone, will be the ingenuity of its leaders to get it out of its predicament."

There is danger, however, in too much government interference, he said.

Speaking recently in the House, Col. Sutherland stated his intention of calling such a conference. Deputy ministers of health have frequently held conferences, but this will be the first time provincial and federal ministers will assemble to discuss health problems.

Provincial ministers would be given an opportunity to bring up any subjects they wished to discuss with the federal health department. The meeting will be held in the federal parliament building in Ottawa.

The budget provides for an increase in the army's strength and for the construction of new military installations. The budget was passed by a large majority and the bill will now be sent to the House of Peers for their consideration.

The International Wheat Commission was unable to accomplish anything at its meeting in Buenos Aires last November, and extension of the agreement, as well as establishment of new export quotas, is still up in the air. Trouble over a large increase in its quota sought by Argentina was mainly responsible.

Alaska Contract Labor Bill Killed

Juneau, Alaska, Feb. 15.—The territorial house today voted to kill a bill which would have allowed the importation of contract labor from Japan to Alaska.

The House also defeated by a 10 to 6 vote the Green memorial to Congress calling for a change in the Jones shipping bill which would allow foreign vessels to carry freight to Alaska.

AND NEURALGIA PAINS OVERCOME

What would you give to forget your pains and aches? To be able to walk and work and play without the rheumatic pains shooting through you? To be able to sleep comfortably all night and get up in the morning ready and smiling to meet another happy day? Then read this: "I had been suffering from Rheumatism and nerve exhaustion . . . I was also distracted and hampered with increasing pain of Neuralgia in my face, causing me to be very restless, sleepless, and 'fed-up', until I was advised to try Phosferine daily. The pain ceased and I felt my nerves wonderfully benefited. I feel a new man and owe it to Phosferine that I withstand the usual winter chills, Rheumatism and Sciatica, etc."

Rotarian From Trail Outlines to Local Clubmen Proposal For Mill Bay Annex

The proposal that the Rotary club of British Columbia unite to erect a home for incurably crippled children, adjacent to the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, at Mill Bay, was outlined to members of the local Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel by Ralph W. Diamond of Trail. The idea was first suggested by the Trail club.

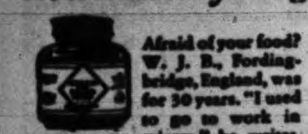

The proposed home for crippled children would cost approximately $25,000, Mr. Diamond reported, and would have accommodation for about twenty children. It would be erected adjacent to the Sanatorium, at Mill Bay, for reasons of economy, he said. The government had been approached and seemed favorably inclined towards the scheme, Mr. Diamond reported.

There were 606 Rotarians in British Columbia, and the clubs of Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster had about 50 per cent of the membership, Mr. Diamond said. It was imperative that these clubs sanction the proposal and a committee will be formed from these three cities to go into the scheme.

BOARD BUDGET IS UNCHANGED

Saanich School Trustees Complete Estimates at No Extra Cost Over 1934

In compiling their 1935 budget, Saanich school trustees kept within a few dollars of their last year's estimates and in so doing earned the plaudits of the municipal council which met yesterday evening received and approved this year's figures.

The trustees this year require $62,000 from municipal revenue, compared with $62,982 which they received last year, including a special grant of $2,000 for McKenzie Avenue school.

The council expressed appreciation of the board's co-operation in keeping its expenses at a minimum and no serious objection was raised to an increase of more than $5,000 in this year's budget for repair work it was agreed there was pressing need for this work on municipal schools.

In addition to the funds from the municipality, the trustees expect $44,015 from government grants, which it is hoped will balance the budget at $127,117.

The increase of $2,378 in the appropriation for repairs was the only one of material size in the estimates. The separate items of expenditure follow:

Teachers' Salaries	$1,761.00
Janitors' Salaries	9,240.00
Fuel	2,500.00
Supplies	4,500.00
Medical Service	2,500.00

MAKES PLEA FOR FERNIE

Thomas Uphill, Labor Member, Also Wants House to Go to Russia

After a fervent appeal for special government assistance for the town of Fernie, which he described as "in dire need," Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie, yesterday entertained the House to a description of his recent visit to Russia, and concluded by advocating financial reform by the printing of internal currency on an inflationary basis.

Mr. Uphill painted a colorful picture of conditions in Fernie. He asked if he could have the assurance of the Premier to visit the people that something would be done, and was told by the Premier to get in touch with the Minister of Labor about the matter. The Premier added that he understood Fernie had received better treatment than other municipalities because of its difficulties.

With reference to the plea of W. J. Aspinwall, Atlin, for roads in the north of the province, Mr. Uphill said there was plenty of need for more roads in the south as well. British Columbians had to travel through the U.S. to get to the east by motor.

WANTS INTERNAL CURRENCY

He commented on Mayor McGee's

interest reduction plans in Vancouver, but did not see them as a solution to financial difficulties of municipalities. He produced a rouble note and five-rouble note which he said he had "stashed" out of Russia, and said Canada should print this kind of money, internal currency, to finance properly.

"I saw poverty-stricken people in Russia. I saw rough food and overcrowded housing conditions. I admit that. But I have seen worse in other parts of the world," he said. Mr. Uphill then made his promised challenge to the Speaker to adjourn the House for five months, and all the members to Russia, and see how things were done. When they returned a "paradise on earth" would be created in British Columbia, and it would soon have 10,000,000 people. The Labor member concluded by epitomizing his view in the following words:

"We go short because we have got too much. The more we produce the greater our difficulties. Let us try a new system."

MANY CHICKENS BLOOD-TESTED

Close to 70,000 British Columbia chickens have been blood-tested to conform with new federal regulations requiring the tests for birds that are to be shipped in inter-provincial trade, according to R. W. Savitz, poultry expert of the federal Department of Agriculture, who is here today.

The federal and provincial authorities combined to carry out the tests without expense to the poultrymen.

This action followed protests of the poultrymen of the cost of the tests. In order to protect the prairie market for the British Columbia shippers, the government tests were arranged.

Bridle Path Plan Heard

Construction of a bridge path in Ward Three, Saanich, for use of members of the Victoria Riding Academy, will be considered by the municipal engineer, an official of the academy and the contractor who proposes to do the work, the Saanich Council decided yesterday evening.

The council considered a proposition under which the academy is prepared to spend $300 on a path along Pear Street to Cedar Hill Road, and thence to Mount Douglas Park. This it was felt, would be satisfactory to the council if the work to be done by the outside contractor is approved by the engineer.

PRESENTING FOR

"The CAR THAT HAS EVERYTHING"

A 90 HORSEPOWER SIX . . . A 100 HORSEPOWER STRAIGHT EIGHT

LAST YEAR, Oldsmobile scored a double triumph! Its distinctive streamlined design installed it as the style leader of automobiles. High value gave it one of the largest sales increases in the industry.

Now Oldsmobile repeats, with a 90-horsepower, All-Feature Six, and a 100-horsepower Straight Eight . . . more beautiful than any previous models . . . more brilliant in performance . . . more lavish in improvements.

Establishing the value measure for 1935, Oldsmobile offers, first of all, solid steel, "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher. This revolutionary type of construction serves a dual purpose: (1) it puts over your head a roof of seamless drawn steel, braced with steel; (2) it gives smoother, more graceful appearance to closed models.

Complete insulation against sound has been engineered into the new Oldsmobiles. Knee-Action, proved and now improved, combines with the Ride Stabilizer to provide superior riding ease. Many other advancements . . . Hydraulic Brakes—Enclosed Tire and Luggage Compartment—Centre Control Steering—All-Silent Synchro-Mesh Transmission—Fisher No-Draft Ventilation—and Increased Economy . . . demonstrate in a practical way why Oldsmobile is known as "The Car That Has Everything."

Come to the showrooms and see the new models. Look once more to Oldsmobile as exemplifying the advanced trend in motor cars. Check carefully what you pay against what you get . . . for Oldsmobile has scored again!

Children's Aid Reports Heard

Dr. F. Kincaid Is Re-elected President; Successful Year Is Noted

Dr. F. Kincaid was yesterday evening re-elected president of the Children's Aid Society at the annual meeting in the City Hall. Capt. G. Kirkendale was named first vice-president, Mrs. F. Daniels second vice-president, S. Whitehead secretary, and A. Malott treasurer.

Members of the executive elected for two-year terms were: Dr. Richard F. Kincaid, city medical health officer; S. O. Snowden, city relief officer; Mrs. R. E. Greenleaf, representing the St. James' Club; C. M. O'Halloran, Mrs. M. M. Connelley and Major J. W. The first four members were elected unanimously.

A highly successful year was noted by Dr. Kincaid in his report as president. The financial position, he said, was considerably better than it had been at the beginning of 1931. During the last year far closer cooperation had been attained with the municipalities and city council, and relations had been highly harmonious, as they had with the provincial government department of welfare. The mayor and council of Victoria, and the council of the municipalities were working with the Children's Aid Society with the common object of benefit to the community.

Dr. Kincaid stated that plans were under way for the establishment of a small permanent receiving shelter. So far the society had managed to make shift, but the high cost of the temporary shelter made by the St. James' Club would permit the carrying out of a work which was becoming ever more necessary. This shelter did not represent a return to the institution system. It would merely serve for observation of new cases to permit the proper selection of foster homes.

He paid tribute to the work of Miss May King, superintendent of the society, who had done so much for the children of the city, and had shown patience, understanding, tact and skill.

During the last year, stated Miss King in her report, sixty-four children had been under the direct care of the society. There had been twelve more at the end of the year than at the beginning. In all 15,792 days care had been given to children during the year.

In family work, sixty-six cases had been carried during the year, including 119 children.

In all, sixty-eight placements had been made in foster homes during 1931, of which eighteen were for the first time.

The work of the society had involved 1,070 personal visits, 336 interviews and over 2,300 telephone calls.

PREVENTIVE WORK

Reviewing the success of the last year, Miss King pointed especially to the development of the preventive branch of the society's work. This had now become their main activity. Preventive work corrected conditions in homes, environments, and steps were taken to prevent the possibility of trouble which would eventually have fallen on the shoulders of the taxpayers.

The modern course in children's aid work, said Miss King, was to get to the root of the child's behavior and environment of the child were first investigated, and steps were then taken to correct the state of affairs. Miss King cited several actual examples of cases which had come into the hands of the society in illustration of her words.

Other reports were handed in as follows: Secretary, Mrs. A. Bessie; financial, Mrs. M. M. Connelley; and nursing, Mrs. Bessie. A letter from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was read to the meeting, expressing his inability to attend the meeting, and offering his good wishes to the society.

The appreciation of the Friendly Help Welfare Association was brought to the society by Miss Elizabeth Grubb.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Bessie for the many years which she has devoted to the work of the society was proposed by Dr. Kincaid. Mrs. Bessie is retiring from the board.

What We Have We Hold

We Must Pay As Much Attention to Health As to Sickness

One of the most distressing things in life is to see men and women losing that most precious of all possessions—Health; losing symmetry of body, sparkle of eyes and smooth, wrinkleless, colorful skin at least 25 years before their time.

I venture to prophesy that some day in the not far distant future, vastly more attention will be given by physicians, parents and, yes, even governments, to keeping people out of hospitals. This has to come if only because it is seemingly impossible to keep pace with the need of hospitals, asylums and institutions. No sooner is a new hospital built than it is crowded to overflowing. The expense is more than we can bear. The government must soon come to the realization that it's better economy to spend one dollar on keeping a man healthy than five dollars trying to restore him to health. Gordon L. Smith, in a recent article in the Financial Post (Toronto), computed that Canada's medicine bill amounted to thirty-eight million dollars a year—on top of which must be added the cost of doctors, nurses, surgeons, hospitals, etc., in Canada, said by competent authority to amount to one and a quarter billion dollars a year.

New I find in going about all over the continent lecturing, meeting people by the tens of thousands, that while there are many people who do realize that the easiest, best way is to preserve their present good health, yet I also find, alas, that the vast majority give no thought to the subject whatever, slipping unthinkingly from health to sickness and misery, and those who would preserve their good health have only the vaguest ideas as to how to do it.

What is needed is for the healthy ones, who do understand, to raise the banner with this stirring slogan: "What we have we hold"—and then to practice what we preach—and spread the gospel to every corner of the country.

What a different world this would be if the millions of dollars that we now spend for housing human misery in hospitals were available for playgrounds, swimming pools, public sun baths, gymnasiums, libraries, museums, music and so on.

And it could be done. This transformation could be brought about within a few years if constituted authorities could only be induced to disseminate real health education based upon nature's basic laws of health, such as I have practiced for 27 years and which has given to me such a perfect body that at 77, I continually, in the public press and from the lecture platform, challenge and defy disease, even a cold, to attack me.

Such a health program must begin by making the public realize that health like everything else in the universe is ruled by laws of nature, the health laws of nature that cannot be changed, withdrawn or broken. These laws, like all other laws, carry with them rewards for their obedience and penalties for their disobedience. The reward for obedience is health and if that obedience be absolute, health will be absolute. Such a body will not only always be well; it can defy disease. Disobedience to these laws brings the penalties of physical degeneration, disease and premature death, the state of things omnipresent in civilization which "crowds" our hospitals to overflowing and calls for ever bigger and bigger hospitals to take care of the down and out, sick and diseased with entirely avoidable disease in all civilized countries.

The very first and most fundamental of these health laws of nature pertain to our foods, for foods are the substances that build the body and the body can be no better than the substances out of which it is made. A normal alkali reserve in the body is "nature's" first defense against fatigue, disease and premature death. This can be assured only if 80% of the food intake is selected from alkali-forming foods, about which very few persons know anything at all. You can learn all about these in my book "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," which furnishes an all-round health education for only $3.00, but if you are not interested to that extent write for my free Bulletin, one of which covers this important health subject, alkali-forming foods. They are all free for the asking. However, let me make it clear that I do not urge anyone to write for these Bulletins except those who are in real earnest in their desire and determination to be always well. To such I delight in being of service, but only to such.

I will go this far and say to everyone that if they will use only six packages of alkali-forming Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, and eight or ten packages of Kofy-Sub, the alkali-forming beverage, served with brown sugar and evaporated milk, the improvement in their general sense of well being and health will be so marked they will want the health Bulletins and will write for them. Remember, they are free. Simply address, Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 877 Vine Ave., Toronto 9, Ont., and ask for free Bulletins on alkali-forming foods and others.

Robt. G. Jackson, M.D.

SILKEN SPINDLES

4 Love La Bouchée

She would have been defiant if he had continued to storm. This change of mood was different.

"I wish you'd understand," said patently, "Brian Westmore isn't interested in me."

"Then he must be crazy. He couldn't help it, Gale. A girl like you—"

She waved him aside. "But he isn't. I tell you! All he talked about to-night was the mill. And he's not a bit like you think he is, either. He's got ideas about making things better for the employees and paying us better wages. He told me about a plan he's worked out—"

"Oh, did he?" A look of craftiness had come into Steve's face. "Talked about the mill, did he? Listen, Gale, I should think you'd see through that sort of talk. You'd better watch your step! If Brian Westmore talked to you about what's going on in the mill he's trying to pump you. One information so they can work us harder, grind us down and make more money for the company."

"He wouldn't!"

"Wouldn't, huh? Say, don't make me laugh. If Brian Westmore wants to make things easier for employees and raise our pay, why doesn't he do it? What's to stop him? It's his mill, isn't it?"

"But he isn't running the mill. It's Thatcher's."

"Then why doesn't he fire Thatcher? He certainly could do that. The whole thing's a pack of lies, a frame-up."

Disbelief shone from the girl's eyes. "No, Steve," she said. "I don't believe it. I don't believe he'd do anything like that."

"Then you're in love with him."

"She was on her feet, head high. "You mustn't talk like that, Steve."

"I know," instantly he was con-

"I shouldn't have said it. Forget it—won't you?"

"I will if you'll promise not to say it again—not even if you think it."

"All right, I'll promise. But, just the same, I want you to remember what I've told you. There's lots going on we don't know anything about and it's risky trusting anyone."

Gale thought of Leo's Boller and her talk of "secret meetings." Joe was sure that Leo was a spy. But Brian Westmore—no, no, that was impossible.

Gale smiled. "I'll remember," she said. "And I'll be careful. Come on—let's go over to O'Connor's. Mrs. O'Connor will be anxious to hear how Mary likes her new coat."

They had to knock twice at the O'Connors before anyone heard them. Then it was Katie who pulled the door open.

"It's Gale!" she called, with excitement. "Come on in," she said. "Pat's here and he's playing the loveliest music!"

Gay notes of "The Stars and Stripes Forever" from O'Connor's harmonica interrupted Mrs. O'Connor came forward, limping slightly on her rheumatic knee. "Did you see Mary?" she asked eagerly. "How is she? Oh, hello, Steve—here, both of you sit down by the fire."

There were a dozen persons in the room—little O'Connors curled up on a worn-out sofa, Timothy, their father, in a chair tilted against the wall, smoking a pipe; Pat Keely, young and dazed-haired, a relative, occupying the centre of the room, with the harmonica raised to his lips; his blond wife watching, admiringly; Michael Dinwiddie and Willie O'Connor scuffling in a corner. The room was warm and smelt of cooking but nobody seemed to mind.

"Mary's fine," Gale told Mrs. O'Connor.

"You can go now," Fletcher told her. "But see that you don't waste any time getting back."

Gale went down the long corridor and turned to the right. Miss Groves was known as the "personal director." Gale knew little about her except that she interviewed new girls before they came to work and asked them questions, some of them embarrassing. Miss Groves had come to the mill since Gale started to work there and Gale had never been in her office.

But a summons from "up front" was a bad omen. What could it mean? Gale remembered that Joe had been called to Miss Groves' office once—that time her sister was taken sick.

Suddenly the girl's heart beat faster. Her father! Could anything have happened at home? No, she wouldn't believe it—she wouldn't! She waited more rapidly if her father was suddenly worse—anything had happened to Phil! There were accidents in the mill sometimes. She'd seen Art Morill taken away with his arm crushed so that it had to be taken off. And there was the Fraser boy—

Breathlessly Gale opened the door of the personal director's office. It was an attractive office with a green rug on the floor and chintz curtains over the Venetian blinds. There was a bookcase and several chairs and on the left, near the window, a mahogany desk on which were books and papers and a slender vase containing two roses.

The woman who sat at the desk wore a blue dress with white at the throat and cuffs. She was a little stout and the way her hair was fluffed out about her face seemed a bit like a young girl. She had a round face and a high-bridged nose on which were perched spectacles. It wasn't a disagreeable face unless you noticed the lines about the rather thin lips.

"And she said the coat was perfect. She's going to try to get in and see you before long."

"And how's Frank? Did you see him?"

"No. He was working. Mary says he's getting along fine, though. They have a nice little home, haven't they?"

The last words were lost in a shriek from the scufflers. Timothy O'Connor set the legs of his chair on the floor soundly. "Pipe down—you two!" he said loudly, and then tilted his chair back again.

"The Stars and Stripes Forever" gave way to "Rhapsody" played with noisy and friendly and gay. "Gale said, 'Pat plays real nice, doesn't he? I wish my children were musical.'"

"I'm musical, Ma!" little Katie shrieked. "I'm musical—look!" She began beating time with a fork on a chair back.

Her mother managed to silence her. The O'Connors, as usual, were noisy and friendly and gay. "Gale and Steve stayed for half an hour and then made their way across the street. At the door Steve said, 'It's time for me to be getting along. There's a Wallace Henry picture at the Strand to-morrow. Would you like to go?'"

"I'd love to," Gale told him, "but I'd better wait until to-morrow to let you know for sure. I'll see you sat work."

"O. K. Good night, Gale."

"Good night."

Half an hour later, lying in her bed, Gale thought of what Steve had said about Brian Westmore. Of course Steve was mistaken. Brian wasn't trying to get information from her. He wouldn't use what she told him to make things harder for mill employees. No, of course not!

But something was to happen next day that changed her mind.

CHAPTER XXIV

It was an hour after lunch time. Slanting sunshine came through the high windows into the great, grey room where machines, row on row, were pounding and roaring. Spindles whirled and hands moved up and down. Gale, bending to reach a bobbin, did not see Clyde Flaher coming toward her.

She looked up quickly as she heard his voice. "You're wanted up front," he told her. "Miss Groves—know where her office is?"

Gale said that she did.

"You can go now," Fletcher told her. "But see that you don't waste any time getting back."

Gale went down the long corridor and turned to the right. Miss Groves was known as the "personal director." Gale knew little about her except that she interviewed new girls before they came to work and asked them questions, some of them embarrassing. THE SPORTS MIRROR

GENE SARANTIN stands in regard to pari-mutuel betting in connection with the Agua Caliente open golf tournament is commendable. Sarantin should not have been put in the position where he felt it necessary to withdraw from the tournament. The Professional Golfers' Association should have had the idea cleared when it was first suggested. The honesty of golf has never been doubted, and why give the more vicious-minded the slightest reason for questioning it?

Gumming has done no sport any good, with the exception of horse and dog racing, which cannot exist without it.

There has been wagging on golf matches and in connection with golf tournaments since time immemorial. However, there is a vast difference between Caliente pools, in which men interested in the game bid and pay for chances of the players winning championships, and open betting on their chances to lead the field for a day.

In 1934 the system introduced at Agua Caliente may not be so bad. The three leaders of each round receive 10 per cent of the play, with the remainder going to the lucky ticket holder.

The danger lies in its being the opening wedge for flagrant abuses in a game in which there is no place for gambling.

With all the silly rulings made by the New York Racing Commission, one would suspect that it reached the maximum in stupidity years ago, but there appears to be no limit.

The latest is "over-the-weight" matches for the heavyweight champion. Try to figure that one out.

Max Baer can fight Primo Carner, Steve Hamas, Max Schmeling, Art Lasky—anybody as long as the opponent is not recognized by the board as the topheavy challenger as many as twelve rounds, and be positively assured that he will be champion no matter what happens. A decision would be rendered, but the title would not be at stake in the contest was of fifteen rounds duration.

With such a regulation in effect, Jess Willard would have retained the crown although he declined to come up for the fourth round with Jack Dempsey at Toledo and Gene Tunney's skillful sharpshooting would have been wasted in both battles with Dempsey Willard and Dempsey were scheduled to go only twelve rounds, while Tunney won and retained the royal robes in ten-round engagements.

Not to be outdone in the ridiculous, the National Boxing Association caught the fever.

The latest regulation was drafted as an invitation to Baer, but will not hasten the Livermore Lurpner's next appearance against a worthwhile opponent, if there is one.

Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, realize just where the butterfly butcher boy would stand with another heavyweight potentially repeat title in ten-round engagements.

"I may not be champion, but I'm the guy who whipped Max Baer."

Designed to bring the greatest of horses in America to Tia Juana, all the old Cofroth Handicap and its $100,000 prize succumbed in doing was to place some other horse in the troughs in the ranks of the high money-winner—horses such as Sir Harry, Golden Prince, and Crystal Fox.

True, there was an interlude, after the event because the Agua Caliente Handicap, when it was captured by Mike Hall, the legendary Star Leg, and Gallant, who took it twice. Moreover, several good horses failed to get anywhere in particular in both the old Cofroth and the Agua Caliente, notably Exterminator and Sun Beam.

In the main, if you exclude Star Leg, "Old Mike," and Gallant, the winners were not high class, however.

New Santa Anita comes along to supplant Agua Caliente. It too offers a $100,000 prize, despite an astounding entry list, this time even to be won by a mediocre horse on February 22.

With Twenty Grand and others already having succumbed to the vicissitudes of training, other stars not showing their best form, and the appearance of others not guaranteed, history may possibly repeat itself on this in the Golden West with one of two former players, Top Boy and Ted Clark.

Top Boy, who set a record at 1:40 for the mile and a sixteenth in December, is now at 1:09 pounds.

Ted Clark doesn't like his weight, but has turned in some crack races with some weight than that on his back. And with the sound blood of Pure Play in his veins, the son of Chatterbox has proved that he is fit and ready for even the famous Stuyvesant, Canada and Equinox.

Led by Doreen Bear, who scored almost twice as many points as did the entire Normal school's team, Victoria High school's senior girls sent the budding teachers down to a 52 to 13 defeat at the Fernwood Road gym yesterday.

The High girls, showing smart floor work and shooting nicely, took an early lead and continued to pile up points, while B. Ratcliffe, P. Simmonds and L. Northcott fought gallantly to gain the student-teacher's thirteen points.

Conacher, Hojner and Seibert Draw Major Penalties; Score Is 3 to 0

Canadiens And Chicago Victors

If New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs meet in the five-game series for the National Hockey League title, and it appears likely they will, the odds on former performances should all be with the New Yorkers.

For in contests between the teams Rangers have won four and lost one. They defeated Conny Smythe's team again yesterday evening in New York, blanking them 3 to 0 before a crowd of 16,000 attracted by the sweeping Ranger comeback.

The convincing victory over Leafs left Rangers in a tie for first place with Chicago, who without Red Wings 3 to 0 in Detroit. The idle Boston Bruins dropped out of the previous triple tie into second place.

Detroit are eleven points behind Bruins and their failure to win even with the help of Scotty Bowman and Syd Howe, the $50,000 pair they bought from St. Louis, practically eliminates them from playoff consideration.

CANADIENS WIN
Montreal Maroons took a 2 to 0 lead from Canadiens in Montreal. Will Oude played in his best form to shutout the Conacherless Canadiens.

Cooks by Murray Murdoch and Bill Cook in the first period and by Cecil Dillon in the second, won the New York game for Rangers.

A battle royal in the third period highlighted the struggle. Red Horner and Leslies tangled first, the red-thatched Leaf swinging on the Ranger defencemen's leg after a built-ending duel. Conacher got into it later with a right to Seibert's jaw.

Tommy Cook scored the Ranger's Detroit, scoring one goal and assisting in another. All three Hawk goals came in the final period. Cook scored on a breakaway shot, while Leslies and Paul Thompson following through.

Pete Lepore played a standout game for Canadiens, getting one goal himself and assisting on another that sent the Leafs to the showers. Joliet got credit for the fluky counter which came early in the second period.

COAST HOCKEY TEAMS DRAW

Portland and Edmonton Battle to 3 to 3 Tie; Prairie Team Improves

Portland, Ore., Feb. 15.—Portland hockey fans to-day talked about a wild and thrilling ten-minute overtime period in which Edmonton Eskimos and the Portland Buckaroos battled furiously and valiantly to break a 3 to 3 tie yesterday evening.

The tie added one point to Portland's second-place standing, putting the Buckaroos two points ahead of Vancouver.

With only sixteen seconds of the game left in the third period Louis Couper, sparkling wingman of the Buckaroos, pulled the game out of the fire by scoring the third Portland goal, matching the three already counted by the visitors.

Smart skating and beautiful passing made the Prairie team look much better than the home City astute. Holmes was especially brilliant for the Eskimos.

Edmonton started the scoring in the first when the slippery Max Sutherland broke loose and banged a shot at goalie Altheim. Altheim headed clear on the side, but as he unwound from the side swing, his club glanced on the puck and it dribbled past the uprights.

About seven minutes later Red Hammering took a pass from Fraser to beat goalie McCusker.

Edmonton again broke into the scoring column in the second period when Holmes scored on a pass from Caru who slipped in from the side during a scramble.

Nickars made it 3 to 1 for Edmonton in the third. Mercer, Eskimo defense man, made a beautiful solo run behind the cage. He fired and it bounced off the goalie's pads. As Altheim fell, Nickars swooped in and fired the rubber over the protrude form of the goalie.

Gray-haired Jack Arbous, who in the first period was crowded over the head with a stick and had six stitches taken in the wound, got Portland's second goal on a solo.

Edmonton—McCusker, Mercer, Townsend, Rimstad, Gagne and Caru. Spares: Redpath, Nickars, Holmes, Sutherland.

Portland—Altheim, Arbous, Fraser, Ryley, Lyons and Hammering. Spares: Munson, Evans, Couper and Jenson.

Referee—Amby Morgan.

SUMMARY
First period—1. Edmonton, Sutherland (Rimstad), 9:32. 2. Portland, Hammering (Lyons-Fraser), 17:05. Penalties: Townsend, 2. Mercer.

Cup Soccer Final Listed To-morrow

Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt Will Clash at the Athletic Park at 2.30 o'clock; Two Second Division Engagements

With the handsome Leeming Cup at stake Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt will clash at the Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon in the only first-division match scheduled. The kick-off is set for 2.30 o'clock with Dave McMillan as referee. It is expected Mayor Leeming will kick off the ball and also present the trophy to the winners.

In view of their being in first position in the Victoria and District League the Thistles are naturally favored to win the match. However, Esquimalt, since Al Marsh and Ivan Sweeney have turned out, have shown considerable improvement and are now tough opponents. In their last league appearance the Dockers turned back Victoria West.

Two second-division games will be run off to-morrow. Victoria City will meet James Island at Heywood Avenue and Victoria West will oppose Esquimalt at Bullen Park. These matches will start at 2.30.

Line-ups for to-morrow follow:
Saanich Thistles, first division—Chalmers, Basher, Harper, Williams, Fraser, Spiller, Price, Vugger, Campbell, Morgan and Brown. Substitutes: Crowe, McCull, Pollard, Leggett, Gibbons and Armstrong.
Victoria City, second division—Wendley, Coussie, Monahan, Anderson, Moody, Robbins, Crofts, Carr, Robinson, Black, Robinson, Green, Robinson, Ryan and Kirchin.

Seattle Girls Set World Swim Record

Paced By Fifteen-year-old Betty Lea, Washington Athletic Club Four, Shatter 400-yard Relay Mark By Nearly Six Seconds; Winfield Needham Wins

Smith, Feb. 15.—Paced by a new fifteen-year-old star, Betty Lea, in the lead-off position, the Washington Athletic Club women's relay team yesterday evening bettered the world record by nearly six seconds in the 400-yard freestyle relay event in the Washington state swimming championships. Their time was 4 minutes 13.3 seconds.

Catch Ray Daughters, whose first famous swimming pupil, Helen Madison, was a member of the relay team, which holds the record, sent his team into the race yesterday evening with the orders to "shoot the works."

They finished for in the van of the second team, an entry from the Crystal Pool Club, Seattle.

The team was made up of Miss Len. Mary Lou Petty, Doris Mackley and Olive McKean, national 100-yard women's champion, and the race was over the twenty-five-yard court. The record of 4 minutes 19.3 seconds was set by a team of Miss Madison, Miss McKean, Pat Linton and Miss McKibben in Los Angeles, in 1932.

In April the quartette will represent the club in the women's national A.A.U. relay event in Chicago.

PORTLAND YOUTH WINS
Winfield Needham of the Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, won the national junior 500-yard freestyle championship in the other main event of the night's racing, but only after a heart-breaking race with Richard Keating, young San Francisco star. He won by a length in 5 minutes 57.1 seconds.

In the women's relay race, Miss Lea, a powerful youngster, was timed in 1 minute 2.4 seconds for her 100-yard sprint. The best time turned in at the W.A.C. pool in several months.

Jack Medina, another Seattle star and holder of numerous national records, who was not eligible to compete in the 500-yard race, won victory in the 100-yard backstroke, in 1 minute 8.5 seconds. He had won in 35.4-3 seconds. Medina was also named star in the 500-yard medley relay, swimming on the winning University of Washington team.

Miss McKean, swimming easily, took the 100-yard free style event for women in the short time of 1 minute 4.3 seconds.

ON LOCAL CARD
New Orleans grapple, who will meet Johnny Latta, Oklahoma, in the eight ten-minute round main event of to-morrow evening's card at the Tiltium gym, New York, will go up against Abdel Khan, Afghanistan. A special four six-minute round bout has been arranged between Johnny Foss, Victoria, and Carl Martin, Vancouver. The first bout will start at 8.30 o'clock.

KENNEL SHOW ENTRY LARGE

Keen Competition Assured in Virtually All Classes on View Here To-morrow

Competition in all breeds at the Victoria City Kennel Club's annual show to-morrow evening in the former Mitchell and Brown quarters, will be exceptionally keen, especially in the graining classes, judging from the entries received to date. These include three Gordon setter puppies, a breed that has been somewhat in the background in latter years. These puppies will be shown by the well-known sportsman, Norman Lord, an enthusiastic fan of this particular breed.

The Sumborn Kennels will be represented by a nice string of English setter puppies bred by the famous English setter breeder, Mr. C. C. Burns, who sold for a high price to a fan in the United States. C. C. Burns, whose particular fancy was for the English setter, has a number of other breeds also. The Sumborn Kennels have promised several entries in the Springer spaniel class. The Quaila Kennels will be represented by a number of other breeds, including German shepherds and other popular breeds, and the Shanting Kennels by Pekingese and Pomeranians.

Sealyham terriers will represent the Drummond Kennels and Boston terriers the B. B. B. Kennels. The Craigie and Macneil will enter West Highland white terriers and wire-haired terriers respectively, and Col. Davidson's entries will include Scottish terriers. The Shepherd-Kennels will have several entries in the German shepherd and Doberman Pinscher classes. Practically every dog lover and fancier in Greater Victoria, Greater Oak Bay and Esquimalt will be out with their best of this event.

Jonathan David of Vancouver has been selected to judge all breeds, on account of his many years of experience in judging and breeding all varieties, and exhibitors are assured of a fair and honest opinion.

SPECIAL THOUGHT
George Pearson, the well-known judge and fancier of Vancouver, has kindly donated a basket of prizes to be awarded the best of all breeds in the show.

The prize list which totals sixteen and includes two for the children's classes, is probably the best one of its kind as an incentive to the young.

Any pup over 12 months of age is eligible for competition whether pedigreed or not, and all classes will be divided by sex and judged separately.

Judging is scheduled to commence at 7.30 o'clock, and entries will be taken at the door up to that time from 6.30 o'clock up to the start of judging.

All dogs will be examined by the club's official veterinary before entering the building, 117 Government Street, where the show will take place.

OAKLANDS TAKE RUGBY FIXTURE

Bill Bilsborough and Fred Farmer Star as Team Beats North Ward

Playing well over the heads of their opponents, Oaklanders rung up a 24 to 3 victory over North Ward in yesterday's Okeana Cup rugby match at the Victoria High School grounds.

Led by Bill Bilsborough and Fred Farmer, who with Jim Joyce, gave them nine points for three tries in the first half, the Oakland boys continued to pile up the score in the second half to win by their wide margin.

A penalty goal by Couch gave the North Ward boys their only points of the match.

In the second half Bilsborough put over a field goal from the twenty-five-yard line. Farmer went over for another try to raise the count to 16 to 3 shortly after the drop goal and Bilsborough added another shortly after. He converted his own try.

Former closed the scoring parade near the end of the game, going over for the last try which also went unanswered.

Dan Dowell refereed.

M'CREADY IN MAT VICTORY

Takes Two Out of Three Falls From Julius Strong-bow at Vancouver

Vancouver, Feb. 15.—Earl McCready, 235, Annapolis, took a two out of three fall victory from Julius Strongbow, 235, Okanagan Indian in the main event of yesterday evening's wrestling card here.

A body slinging early in the second round gave McCready the first fall, but the Okanagan came back in the next round to even the count with a body slam. An outburst from the crowd forced Strongbow's shoulders to the mat for the required time in the next round to give McCready the win.

Jagat Singh, 230, India, and Glen Wade, 217, Lincoln, Neb., tangled for six fast rounds to a no fall draw.

Cliff Olson, 195, Seattle, and Ted Tays, 195, Portland, ended their match in a draw. There was no fall.

FIFTH BRIGADE LINE-UP
The Fifth Brigade International rugby squad for to-morrow's game will line up as follows: Banks, Wilson, Peterson, Steele, Sherry, Mackenzie, Thompson, 170 lb., Robinson, Stewart, Pollard, 170 lb., Anderson, Gossnutt, runner, 170 lb. and Clark.

The above players are asked to be at the Athletic at 5 o'clock.

Association to Reorganize After Failing to Elect Officers

Decision to reorganize at an early date, when all ratepayers of the city of Victoria will be asked to attend, whether members of the organization or not, was made at the annual meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening. The meeting was a stormy one and adjournment was called when it became impossible to elect a new slate of officers. Frank Le Roy, president, occupied the chair.

J. Howard A. Chapman was elected president of the association, but this was later rescinded on Mr. Chapman's suggestion when the full slate of officers could not be named. Arthur Hinder was elected secretary-treasurer, after the constitution had been amended to combine the two offices into one.

There were no nominations for the positions of first and second vice-presidents, and Mr. Le Roy said: "If no one is named I will have to pass these offices up and we will not have any." Four members of the executive of fifteen were elected before adjournment. Mr. Le Roy will remain as president until a new body of officers is elected. "I am trying to do my duty by you and the ratepayers of Victoria," he said.

Fred J. Crowhurst was duly nominated and later elected president of the association before it was discovered that he was not present. The constitution states that a member must be present to be elected.

MEMBERS SPLIT

Thirty members were present. Early in the meeting, when a vote was taken to determine whether there should be reorganization or if the meeting should go ahead and elect the officers, the members split, fifteen voting on each side. Mr. Le Roy then threw in his vote with those voting for election of officers. Most of those who had voted for reorganization then left the hall, but before the meeting adjourned their suggestion had been adopted.

In his presidential report Mr. Le Roy gave a brief resume of the association's activities during 1934. There had been three public and nine executive meetings, he reported. In March a delegation of the executive attended the private bills committee of the British Columbia Legislature concerning the application and petition of the Victoria City Council to borrow for the purpose of refunding two sums—one of $251,000 and the other of $400,000. Some of the executive, Mr. Le Roy said, remained for several days continuously in attendance on this matter.

During April the executive waited on the City Council concerning the sale of timber at the water shed. The executive held the opinion that this timber should not be sold at that time. In this connection the president extended credit to Alderman Andrew McDevlin who, while not holding with the opinion of the executive, was responsible for producing a higher price for the timber. Also in April the executive took up again the matter of reduction of interest on municipal bonds.

OPPOSED TRAFFIC LIGHTS

In September the executive objected to the "unnecessary expenditure of money by the installing of the proposed traffic signals. We believe we are on safe ground by asserting that this expense is not warranted and is brought forward only in the interest of speed for auto cars and to place the responsibility of accidents, if any, upon the shoulders of pedestrians. There is, of course, that other ever present interest of some one with influence who has something to sell."

In November the executive urged on the City Council the advisability of a special public meeting of property owners for the purpose of making a co-operative demand upon the government for the return of grants lost to the city.

"His Worship the Mayor evidently did not catch the serious intent of our ideas," the report said, "and instead of calling a meeting such as we requested, he invited us to a civic political meeting, at the tail end of which, after all the aldermen had left the platform and most of the audience had gone, we were invited to present any resolution we might have."

RAVING CHARGES

Mr. Le Roy suggested that the meetings go on record, and the secretary be instructed to communicate with the City Council requesting that the council make a rental charge, in the same manner and method of Vancouver, on the B.C. Electric Railway Company, and all other persons using certain portions of city property for profit.

Before closing his address, Mr. Le Roy spoke of the loss of the association and the city had sustained in the death of Alderman R. T. Williams.

Capt. Burgess J. Gadsden, the treasurer, reported the association had started the year with $88.94 in the bank and had ended with $18.80.

It was unanimously decided to raise the annual membership fee from $50 to $1.

OPPOSES PLAN OF VANCOUVER

Peace River Member Flays McGee Policy; Urges Beer and Wine

Vancouver's Mayor McGee, the existing liquor highway and the ensuing controlling of economic control of British Columbia's affairs in the southwest corner of the province were attacked by Clara Pianta, independent, Peace River, in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mayor McGee's "word magic" on the subject of monetary reform and the Alaska Highway were related to great Imperial and International strategic problems by the speaker.

"The public of Vancouver through word magic were stirred into a wave of public hysteria that voted into office a Mayor who clothes the honest ideas of Conservatives in the fervent language of religion," he said. Because Canada's important strategic position in the Empire, the extravagant language of a man holding office as mayor and in the Legislature was taken as the voice of Canada, he said.

SANCTITY OF CONTRACT

"We are approaching a time when we may be accused of not understanding the sanctity of a contract or the meaning of honor," he said. "We have already heard the mayor of Winnipeg complain that the words of the mayor of Vancouver had affected the price of Winnipeg bonds, because some of these people have a very feeble sense of geography."

Mr. Pianta did not actually oppose the Alaska-B.C. Highway, but said that the real urge for its construction came from the United States. "Judging by history I look on this as an attempt by the United States to complete a 20th Century Roman Road from Alaska for strategic reasons," he said.

He dilated upon the manner in which aerial transportation had brought China, Japan and Russia into close contact with the United States and Canada.

"The United States wants a highway to Alaska," he said. "If we, by their method of attack, are pushed into building it, then let us do so with the full knowledge that we are making a formal alliance with the United States and developing the friendly relations across the Pacific that we have made such a treaty."

PANHANDLE FOR B.C.

"And if we are to make such a treaty let us see to it that we are not taken out of it by asking for a return of the Alaska Panhandle, at least from Juneau south."

"Then we can build roads and railways from our own ports into northern British Columbia and develop that great mineral-rich area efficiently."

"But not let us spend the money of this province on great projects without realizing all the international consequences that arise from our changed strategic position."

Before embarking on the Alaska Highway he suggested that roads should be built from Bella Coola and from Prince Rupert to the interior, both from a tourist and development standpoint and from a military strategic standpoint. The isolated condition of Vancouver for ten days when a storm cut off their city from the interior by purchasing two railways and two main highways was cited as reason for building these roads without delay.

Mr. Pianta came out strongly for improving the amenities of British Columbia hotels and restaurants.

ONLY PLACE EATING FORBIDDEN

"This is the only place in the world where you are permitted to drink and eat," he said. "We have restaurants here—drinking places in an atmosphere of state grace and perfume where patrons go to be taken to the hotel or to the house which might raise the cultural tone of these places."

He suggested that the little hotels and bars along the B.C. highway, the better class hotels and restaurants, the railway dining cars and the

Washed Out Road To Be Replaced

Portions of the Gordon Bay Road, which suffered extensively during the recent snow and floods, are to be replaced with a diverted highway through Mount Douglas Park, according to plans submitted to the Council yesterday evening. The plan will go before the City Council for approval before the work proceeds.

The new road will follow the general line of the present one but in places where deep cuts have been made by the torrents, the highway will be cut several feet into the bank. The work will cost about $200,000.

WARNS AGAINST MILD INFLUENZA

Saanich Health Officer Reports Epidemic of Colds; Care Is Urged

Necessity of exercising care in treating mild influenza cases prevalent in the municipality, is stressed on parents in the monthly report of Dr. David Herman, medical health officer of Saanich.

"There is a considerable amount of mild influenza prevalent," the doctor states, "and parents are urged to treat any symptoms of cold, pains in nose, head, or throat, with a certain amount of care, keeping the patient isolated and in bed. The family physician should be consulted as to proper treatment."

The doctor noted a few cases of whooping cough but these were confined to the pre-school population.

The statistical report of the health department follows:

M.H.O. AN INTERESTING SERVICE

Behind nursing visits, duty-free, pre-school and infant welfare visits, ninety-seven; instructive visits, eighty-two; co-operative visits, ten; pre-natal and post-natal visits, seven; office consultations, seven; cases by M.H.O., thirty-three; visits to cases and contacts by M.H.O., twenty-six; sanitary inspections by M.H.O., six.

SCHOOL SERVICES

Visits to schools, 130; children inspected by nurses, 710; children's eyes tested, 125; children examined, nine; children examined by M.H.O., 172; home school visits, 247; minor treatment, twenty-four; health talks, seventeen; notices given to teachers and parents, 170; cases in district, whooping cough, twelve; cases in district, chicken pox, thirty-three.

LIFE IS EASED FOR 600 MEN

Work of Citizens' Recreation Rooms For Year Reported; Officers Named

Life is made tolerable for about 600 men by the services of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms at Fort and Langley streets, according to the report of the year's operations submitted at the annual meeting yesterday evening by A. E. Hunsley, secretary.

Average attendance at the rooms is 100 a day.

The books, audited by B. Owen, showed receipts of $5,121, and expenditures of $3,250. The loss was covered by a balance still remaining of $1,871. Captain Walter Brown of the finance committee reported. The rooms now have a library of 301 books, with 250 having been added during the year.

"I am sure our work here is a success, as in many ways we help men in a manner that is hard to compare," Mr. Hunsley said. "I myself enjoy the work, and believe most of the men look on me as their friend. We can only do this through the generosity of the public generally, who have provided funds, reading material, cards, and entertainers who have given their time."

Special mention was made of the work of Miss Dailian, who decorated the rooms at Christmas and gave fruit and candy to the men provided by the Christ Church Cathedral Y.P.A. with whom from the men's Guild.

E. D. Patterson was appointed convener for the coming year, and a committee of five was appointed to supervise the rooms at Christmas and give fruit and candy to the men provided by the Christ Church Cathedral Y.P.A. with whom from the men's Guild.

Officers were re-elected for 1935 as follows: Chairman, Mayor David Lepp; vice-chairman, E. D. Patterson; treasurer, R. P. Taylor; secretary, Mr. Hunsley; finance committee, Capt. Brown, Mr. Taylor, Fred Lundberg and Mr. Hunsley; convener, E. D. Patterson; Mr. Taylor, R. E. Smith, T. Abraham and Mr. Hunsley.

LIBRARY APPRECIATED

The library has 350 books to the men each month, Mr. Hunsley reported. The year's operations showed during the year were less than 1 per cent. About 250 new books have been added in the last twelve months, and a like number of the used books have been forwarded to the men.

Amalgamation be permitted to all amalgamation beverages that in civilian countries were associated with dinner. The tourist attractions of British Columbia will not be fully utilized and realized unless people are provided with accommodation and amenities in our outside inn establishments to those that have made this country their winter headquarters.

Mr. Pianta's complaint against controlling of British Columbia's economic control was illustrated by the case of the Pacific railway, said the speaker. British Columbia are caught in the vicinity of Prince Rupert, but due to control of the industry in Vancouver, the men are not permitted to do the work, the food, the supplies, and even the fuel for them to get on all purchased in the south, and the price is about twice as high as being purchased here.

This condition, he complained, is retarding the development of healthy local industries in many parts of the province.

It would only be corrected when government ceased to order to the 50 per cent of the population continue in the economy of the area of the province living within a stone's throw of Vancouver.

Common Sense Suggestions to Readers of The Times

Influenza is going its deadly rounds. Take every possible precaution to avoid coming down with the flu. These simple rules are based on sound medical opinion:

Get lots of sleep and eat wisely; it is usually the run-down man or woman who succumbs easiest to germs.

Get plenty of fresh air; breathe through the nose. Avoid any close contact with others; remember, flu is highly contagious.

If you should catch cold or feel grippy, take some "Aspirin"; if your throat feels at all sore, crush three "Aspirin" tablets in water and gargle. But if you detect any sign of flu, or even suspect it, get to bed at once and call your physician.

Keep the system alkaline; an acid condition invites colds, gripe and other weakening disorders.

Keep the bowels open so poisons will not accumulate and lower your resistance.

To relieve constipation and keep system alkaline take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia which is not only a most effective antacid, but an excellent laxative as well.

"Aspirin" should be in every home.

"HORRIBLE!"—You Say "ADMIRABLE!"—Say Dentists

BARBARIC! Of course it is. But dentists would argue differently. To them, it illustrates a lesson they are constantly teaching.

If people ate coarse, raw foods, which exercised their gums, most of to-day's serious gum troubles would disappear. For our soft, modern foods rob our gums of exercise—of health and firmness. That touch of "pink" you see on your tooth brush is a warning that massage and stimulation are needed.

Neglect of "Pink Tooth Brush" is Serious. Don't neglect "pink tooth brush". It may lead to serious trouble—gingivitis, Vincent's disease, or even pyorrhea. Follow modern dental teachings—play safe.

Brush your teeth with Ipana tooth paste and each time massage a little extra Ipana into your gums. Ipana, with massage, rouses lazy gums, speeds circulation, brings gums back to healthy firmness—brings teeth new brilliance.

Tarzan of the Apes

With a bound Tarzan sprang into the trees and disappeared. Had he left her there to her fate in the lonely jungle? ... The heard a sudden, slight sound! ... There stood Tarzan, his arms filled with berries, ripe fruit. He circled her hair and tried to comfort and quiet her.

Now they had come to their destination. In his strong arms Tarzan placed her softly upon the grassy turf. He noted his magnificent figure towering above her, his perfect symmetry, the poise of his fine head upon his broad shoulders. Surely his purpose could not be base or cruel.

The last few hours had taught her to trust this strange, wild creature. It commenced to dawn upon her that she had, possibly, learned something she had never really known before—LOVE. She wondered—and then she smiled. ... And still smiling, she pushed Tarzan gently away, pointing to the food.

Together, in silence they ate. He made a little hoover of boughs and grasses. Then he did the only thing he knew to assure Jane of his safety. He handed her his knife—smiling until it's time to send them to bed.

"What's that, my dear? Does some one want me?" asked the bunny.

"The children want you to assure them as they will stop teasing Nurse Jane," said Mrs. Longears. "Can't you think of something for them to do, Wiggly, to keep them amused until it's time to send them to bed?"

"Why, of course, I can!" said the rabbit gentleman. "How about popping some corn, making popcorn, balls and cutting it with butter and salt?"

"Oh, that will be fine!" cried Mrs. Longears.

"Just lovely, 'Daddy Wiggly!'" said Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit.

"Then will you do it, Mr. Longears?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I haven't popped any corn since last Christmas. Get ready, everybody!"

Corn, that pop, pop, pop, was a little different from the sweet corn you eat off the cob in summer and the yellow kernels that chickens eat in winter. The kernels of corn that pop are small. When they are put in a wire basket over a hot fire the kernels burst, or pop, for a time their first skin and are as white as snow. Some of the corn has been taken from the cobs, and with his bunny children watching him, Nurse Wiggly held the basket over the fire in Nurse Jane's kitchen stove.

"What makes you keep shaking it, Uncle Wiggly?" asked Bunty.

"No it won't catch and burn," answered the rabbit. "It's just to keep the corn from sticking to the wire basket. They grow looser. Then all of a sudden many hard pops were heard and many kernels burst into fluffy white snow. They jumped up and bumped against the top of the basket.

"Isn't this fun?" said Nurse, who didn't play any more tricks on Nurse Jane, for she thought the kitchen lady's household was dead.

"And how good it smells!" laughed Jane.

"It will taste even better!" said her two sister bunnies.

Uncle Wiggly made five large popcorns.

What Do You Know How Well Off You Are?

AN OLD WOMAN said to me the other day: "When I see the modern women with their freedom, their unlimited opportunities in every line of human endeavor, their emancipation from the drudgery of housekeeping, I often wonder if they appreciate their blessings and realize how much more fortunate they are than their grandmothers were. For the good old times were hard times for women."

"You can't see the skin, so to speak, with clothes. When I was a girl we spent weary days and weeks rolling and whipping ruffles and setting yards and yards of embroidery and lace into our underclothes. No one was considered properly dressed who didn't have on at least six voluminous petticoats. Our bodies were swathed in as many layers of cloth as a mummy's. And when we traveled it took trunks as big as closets to carry our belongings."

"Now a woman steps down to a shop and buys a handful of silk stockings that don't cost as much as the material for our undies did. She doesn't have to put a stitch in them, and when she travels she sticks her whole supply of lingerie in the crown of her hat."

"No woman now sings the song of the shirt, for her husband wouldn't wear one of her concoctions even if she made it. She buys her children's clothes at the price she would have to pay for the cloth and she puts in her time handling a golf club instead of a needle."

"And look how much more sensibly women dress. No more lacing yourself to death because a twenty-eight-inch waist was a scandal and a disgrace. No more weighting yourself down with clothes until you were as static as a haystack. No more waddling down the street clutching your train with one hand and your pocketbook and bundles with the other, as helpless you had to be bounded up steps and shoved through doorways. No more day women were nothing but bundles of clothes. Now they have as much as nothing on as the law allows, and often far less than decency permits."

"And housekeeping. In my youth we spent the hottest part of the summer stewing over the kitchen stove preserving and pickling, and any housewife who didn't go from year to year with dozens of jars of sweetmeats left over from the previous year was considered slack and lazy. Now a housekeeper buys her preserves and pickles from day to day. There is no waste of good raw material and nobody has been offered up as a sacrifice to the preserving kettle."

"And think of the modern kitchen with its electrical gadgets and camp-openers and where you make the fire in the range by turning a switch, as compared with grandpa's kitchen where you split the wood and brought in the coal to start the fire in the range, and had to thaw out the food of a winter's morning before you cooked it."

"Worst of all, when I was young there was nothing that a girl could do but get married, and if she didn't have a powerful and cream complexion and a liberal supply of sex attraction, it was a tragedy. A family felt that an old maid was a blot on the parchment. They always spoke of her with hushed voices as 'poor Mary' and kept her under cover as much as possible. And to avoid being 'poor Mary' and being dependent on the assistance of their families and relatives who didn't want them, girls married men they didn't love, men old enough to be their fathers, brutes and bullies, anything to get married, and lived lives of domestic martyrdom."

"But now a girl marries, or stays single, as she pleases, and an old maid is no more looked down upon than an old bachelor. Nobody pities her. They are more likely to envy her. There are no happier or jollier women in the world than the girl bachelors with their good jobs, their financial independence, their little flats and their freedom to do as they please."

"When I was young if a girl belonged to a poor family there was nothing she could do about it except to keep her fingers crossed and pray for a Prince Charming to ride by and rescue her from her poverty, which was a miracle that seldom happened. Otherwise she had to wear the cast-off clothing of her better-off relatives and eat her heart out in bitter longing for the things she wanted and could not have. For there was literally no way, except by teaching and domestic service, that she could earn a dollar."

"But look at the poor girl now. The minute she gets out of school she hustles out and gets a job and makes the money she wants. She doesn't wear Aunt Susan's three-year-old hats. She buys herself one that makes Aunt Susan's look as if it came out of the ragbag. She doesn't sit at home and twiddle her thumbs and wish that she could go places and do things. She ups and does them. There are plenty of girls who have worked their way all over the world by nursing or manuevering or doing stenography or practicing some other trade that is good for a job anywhere."

"When I was a girl every door of opportunity was closed to women. Now they are wide open and a girl can go just as far as her brains and industry will take her. And every girl should get down on her knees and thank God for that."

"There is only one thing in which the girls in my day had the advantage over the girls of the present, and that is that we had more beaux and we didn't have to work so hard for a date then as girls do now."

Uncle Wiggly's Popcorn

By HOWARD E. GARIS

There were jolly times in Uncle Wiggly's kitchen when he was making popcorn. One night, of course, the days were getting a bit longer and the nights a bit shorter as spring drew near. It would be spring on March 21, you may remember, were quite good and the bunny rabbit children, after they had done their home work for the day, would come to the kitchen and play with him. They played games and sometimes they played tricks on these members of Nurse Jane's family.

One night after Buster had played on Nurse Jane the trick of making believe he was a pussy cat and barking like a dog, and when his brother, Chubb, had tied a long string and a wad of paper on Nurse Jane's tail, Mrs. Longears said:

"Now, children, if you do any more of this nonsense I'll send you all up to bed! I can't care if it is early—you stop bothering Nurse Jane or up to bed you go!"

WANTED TO HAVE FUN

"But, Ma, what can we do to have fun?" asked Buster.

"Maybe your father can think up some thing," said Mrs. Longears, who was reading the paper.

"What's that, my dear? Does some one want me?" asked the bunny.

"The children want you to assure them as they will stop teasing Nurse Jane," said Mrs. Longears. "Can't you think of something for them to do, Wiggly, to keep them amused until it's time to send them to bed?"
